BRIDGE-FENCE-WALL: Protective Body Skills

BRIDGE-FENCE-WALL is a dance theatre performance that demonstrates protective body skills, focusing on the communication concepts of 'bridge' (yes), 'fence' (no), and 'wall' (stop). It equips students with the message that their bodies deserve to be safe and respected, and that they can do their part to behave safely and respectfully towards others too.

Using acrobatic movement and age-appropriate humour, the performers set a comfortable mood for students to be at ease while learning about related topics such as personal space and seeking help. This show is designed to enhance students' learning in the 21st Century Competencies - CORE VALUE.

Before the performance, the school will receive an information packet which provides more details about the performance, how the worksheet will be used and a resource kit for educators. An optional pre-performance briefing can be arranged.

GERAK ABC

Gerak ABC is a bilingual English-Malay dance theatre performance, animating the letters of the alphabet through the body. The dancers embody the letters and pair them with simple movement words; like "gerak," which means "move". Daily interactions like "M for Makan" and "S for Sayang" are also featured and become inspiration for dance movement and engagement between audience and performers.

This programme is designed for children to enjoy wordplay and creative movement. Children who already know Malay might enjoy the show because of the familiar words and sounds, while children who don't know the language yet can get interested.

Gerak ABC has been produced by The Artground and presented at SAFRA Toa Payoh (digital), Asian Festival of Children's Content and schools for children aged 7 and under.

ABOUT ROLYPOLY FAMILY

Faye Lim
(MFA Dance)

Bernice Lee
(MA Fine Arts, BFA Dance)

Rolypoly Family is dedicated to honouring children's creative genius while supporting the artistic and socio-emotional learning of diverse young children, their families and communities. Led by dance artists Bernice Lee and Faye Lim, we produce delightful arts and dance experiences from our artists' intuitive choreographic and movement practices.

Our directors are trained in Kidzlive: I Can Protect Myself, Singapore Children's Society's child sexual abuse prevention programme. They then developed Body Smarts Through Movement Arts, a movement-based body safety and respect programme for children

Rolypoly Family has partnered extensively with schools, social service agencies, community groups, arts organisations and government agencies.
